The Fund is not liable to any Luxembourg tax on profits or income. However, this tax is reduced to 0.01% per annum for the net assets attributable to the Class I Institutional Shares, intended for institutional investors. No stamp duty or other tax is payable in Luxembourg on the issue of Shares. No Luxembourg tax is payable on the realised capital appreciation of the assets of the Fund.

General

Dividends and interest received by the Fund on its investments may be subject to non-recoverable withholding or other taxes in the countries of origin.

The Fund was liable to an initial capital tax of EUR 1,250 which was paid upon incorporation.

B. Luxembourg Taxation of shareholders

Directive 2003/48/EC of 3 June 2003 of the Council of the European Union on taxation of savings income in the form of interest payments (hereinafter the “Directive”)

The Directive stipulates that with effect from 1st July 2005, paying agents (within the meaning of the Directive) established in a Member State of the European Union (or in certain dependent or associated territories of Member States) which make interest payments to natural persons (or to residual entities within the meaning of the Directive) residing in another Member State, must, depending on the country in which they are established, communicate information relating to the payment and the beneficiary to the tax authorities or deduct withholding tax. If such a payment is subject to withholding tax, the beneficiary can avoid such withholding tax by submitting a certificate of exemption or an authorisation to exchange information, depending on the options proposed by the paying agent and the country of establishment.

In accordance with the provisions of the Directive, dividend payments made by a sub-fund of the Fund shall fall within the scope of the Directive if more than 15% of the sub-fund’s net assets are invested in debt claims as defined in the Directive. Payments made by a sub-fund of Fund in the event of the repurchase of shares in a sub-fund (or any transaction treated as a repurchase) shall fall within the scope of the Directive if more than 40% of the subfund’s net assets are invested in such debt claims.

When payment is subject to withholding tax, the said withholding tax shall apply in principle, provided that the paying agent is in possession of such information, to the part of the payment corresponding to interest income within the meaning of the Directive. The withholding tax will be 20% up to 30 June 2011 and then 35% up to the end of the transition period (as defined in the Directive) provided that the paying agent has information on the interest comprised in the distribution or repurchase payment.

The Directive was transposed into the laws of Luxembourg by the law of 21 June 2005.

The above provisions are based on current law and practices and are subject to change.

The Fund recommends to potential shareholders that they should obtain information and, if necessary, advice regarding the laws and regulations applying to the subscription, purchase, holding, redemption and sale of shares in their country of origin, residence or domicile.

The above information is not exhaustive and does not constitute legal or tax advice. Investors should inform themselves of, and when appropriate consult their professional advisers on, the possible tax consequences of subscribing for, buying, holding, converting, redeeming or otherwise disposing of Shares under the laws of their country of citizenship, residence, domicile or incorporation.

SPECIFIC INFORMATION
RELATING TO THE SUB-FUND DIAMAN SICAV FGS SYSTEMATIC TRADING

1. Investment Policy and Investment Restrictions

Investment Policy

The objective of the FGS Systematic Trading Sub-Fund is to obtain a good risk-adjusted return offered by stock market using a systematic methodology based on the use of call and put options and index futures as well as a selection of stocks that reply the market indexa quantitative investment process for the selection of stocks with positions having a market-neutral approach.

The principal main characteristics of the investment strategy are:

- main investment in liquid assets and government bonds,
- exposure to long or short positions through the use of financial derivative instruments representing stocks, indexes or currencies and CFD contracts (Contracts for difference traded over-the-counter (OTC) or on a listed market), based on the Investment Adviser's quantitative models

Short positions will be undertaken via the use of derivatives (such as CFDs) traded OTC or on a listed market to enable the Investment Adviser to sell a stock, sector or general index.

CFDs are OTC financial contracts and are used to gain exposure to fluctuations (positive or negative depending on the direction of the transaction) in stocks, baskets of stocks or indices, without the need to own or borrow the underlying financial instruments.

These transactions constitute an arbitrage technique used to reduce the Sub-Fund's exposure to market risk or to a specific sector risk. The risk generated by one or more exposures to a downturn in share prices must not be viewed in isolation but should be considered in the context of the overall portfolio and similar securities held by the Sub-Fund in long positions. The risk associated with a sale of securities in this context is not absolute, but should always be considered as a relative risk.

To implement the investment policy and achieve the investment objective it is anticipated that the derivatives, such as CFDs will be entered into with top-rated financial institutions specializing in such transactions. Such OTC agreements are standardized agreements.

In conjunction with the OTC transactions, it is important to note the associated counterparty risk. The Sub-Fund can reduce the counterparty risk by using collateral.

The Sub-Fund ensures that the overall risk associated with financial derivative financial instruments does not exceed 100% of the net assets of the Sub-Fund and that the risk of the Sub-Fund therefore does not persistently exceed 200% of the net assets of the Sub-Fund.

The FGS Systematic Trading Sub-Fund will invest in a mixed portfolio composed of both equities and equity-related securities as well as financial derivative instruments representing stocks and stock indexes, as well as bonds and debt securities. The portion of the portfolio which will be invested in equities and equity-related securities including long and short positions may represent up to 50% of the Sub-Fund's net assets. The FGS Systematic Trading Sub-Fund will focus on transferable securities issued by issuers domiciled in or deriving a significant part of their revenues from Europe.

Investments in transferable securities issued by other issuers are allowed as long as they do not exceed 70% of the portfolio value. The strategy could so be implemented also to American stock market using S&P 500 stocks and index future if the size of the Sub-Fund increases too much and suggests diversification for continuing to perform better than mean average market.

This Sub-Fund will attempt to protect the invested capital from adverse fluctuations of the market by the mean of hedging at least part of the portfolio with index futures and options, single stock options and single stock futures.

The FGS Systematic Trading Sub-Fund may invest up to 10% of its net assets in UCITS and/or other UCIs.

Notwithstanding the above provisions and if justified by exceptional market conditions, the FGS Systematic Trading Sub-Fund may invest up to 100% of its net assets in cash and cash equivalents, term deposits, debt securities and money market instruments dealt on a regulated market and whose maturity does not exceed 12 months, monetary UCITS and UCIs. In general terms, the Sub-Fund will comply with the investment restrictions and the principle of risk spreading set forth under Part A, Paragraph II. There is no restriction so as to the currency of these securities. Term deposits and liquid assets may not exceed 49% of the Sub-Fund's net assets; term deposits and liquid assets held by any counterparty including the Custodian Bank may not exceed 20% of the Sub-Fund's net assets.

Risk Profile

The investments within this Sub-Fund are subject to market fluctuations and to the risks inherent in all investments; accordingly, no assurance can be given that the investment objective of this Sub-Fund will be achieved.

Investing in equity securities may offer a higher rate of return than those in short term and long term debt securities. However, the risks associated with investments in equity securities may also be higher, because the investment performance of equity securities depends upon factors which are difficult to predict. Such factors include the possibility of sudden or prolonged market declines and risks associated with individual companies. The fundamental risk associated with any equity portfolio is the risk that the value of the investments it holds might decrease in value. Equity security values may fluctuate in response to the activities of an individual company or in response to general market and/or economic conditions. Historically, equity securities have provided greater long-term returns and have entailed greater short-term risks than other investment choices.

Debt securities are subject to the risk of an issuer's inability to meet principal and interest payments on the obligation (credit risk) and may also be subject to price volatility due to such factors as interest rate sensitivity, market perception of the creditworthiness of the issuer and general market liquidity (market risk).

The value of the Shares may fall as well as rise and a shareholder on transfer or redemption of Shares may not get back the amount he or she initially invested. Income from the Shares may fluctuate in money terms and changes in rates of exchange may cause the value of Shares to go up or down. The levels and basis of, and reliefs from, taxation may change. There can be no assurance that the investment objective of this Sub-Fund will be achieved.

Profile of targeted investors

This Sub-Fund is suitable for more experienced investors wishing to attain defined investment objectives. The investor must have at least some experience with volatile products. The investor must be able to accept some temporary losses, thus this Sub-Fund is suitable to investors who can afford to set aside the capital for a period of 2-3 years.
